

What's happening?

Buses replace trains on the Sandringham Line from 8pm Tuesday 21 May to 7am Sunday 9 June, between Flinders Street and Sandringham stations, as major construction continues at the site of the Metro Tunnel's future eastern tunnel entrance in South Yarra.

Plan ahead using PTV's journey planner and allow an extra 60 minutes travel time during this period.

Why are we building the Metro Tunnel?

We're building the Metro Tunnel to free up space in the City Loop, by running three of our busiest train lines through a new tunnel under the CBD. This will untangle the network and create space for more trains, more often across Melbourne.

As a result, room will be created to enable over half a million additional passengers per week across Melbourne to use the rail system during the peak periods. The Metro Tunnel will also bring time travel savings to passengers across suburban and regional lines.

Thanks for your patience as we build the Metro Tunnel, delivering more trains and time savings for passengers on the Sandringham Line.

How we are delivering more trains for the Sandringham Line

The Metro Tunnel will take the Cranbourne, Pakenham and Sunbury lines out of the City Loop with a new tunnel under the CBD.

This creates room in the City Loop to run more trains on lines across Melbourne, including the Sandringham Line.

Room will be created for 72,000 more passengers every week to use the Sandringham Line during peak periods, that's 48 per cent more peak capacity.

Sandringham Line passengers will save up to 20 minutes a day on journeys to Parkville and St Kilda Road by connecting to Metro Tunnel services at Flinders Street.
